Wedding traditions evolve, but certain things remain the same — like needing a list of professionals to choose from when planning your big day! From the cake and decor to the rentals and venues — we've got it covered! There's a lot to do when planning a wedding, so put the stress in someone else's hands. These local businesses can turn any occasion into an event to remember...especially yours.

Weddings in the Garden

By Mary Kay McPartlin

The rolling hills and beautiful setting of Hidden Lake Gardens in Tipton make a perfect backdrop for a wedding. Whether the wedding is a big affair or a small intimate gathering, the staff at Hidden Lake Gardens can help any couple plan for their special day. “We are just a beautiful backdrop for a wedding,” said Paul Pfeifer, managing director. “It’s amazing to me how much Hidden Lake Gardens is a family tradition. People always tell me how they were married here or their parents were married here. Hidden Lake Gardens is just a great place to make this special promise to each other.”

There are four main areas where couples say “I do.” The traditional wedding spot is in the gazebo by the demonstration garden. “That’s the most popular spot,” Pfeifer said. “The gazebo makes a great focus for a wedding.”

The little valley next to the pond at the visitor center is another popular place to exchange vows, although the hill can be challenging for people.

The Evergreen Hill is another great spot for a wedding, with a convenient parking area adjacent to the hill. “If you are looking to get out and away, it’s a really nice setting,” Pfeifer said.

In recent years the Hosta Hillside has provided a beautiful backdrop for smaller weddings. The shady stone terrace with Hidden Lake in the background is a unique wedding location.

Outdoor weddings are dependent on good weather for the best experience, but Midwest weather can be unpredictable. Hidden Lake Gardens offers an indoor refuge for bridal couples to use when Mother Nature doesn’t cooperate. “With each outdoor location we do reserve the auditorium or the garden meeting room for them, just in case,” said Pfeifer.

Reservations for weddings in the gardens are best made as soon as possible. Some people have called a year in advance to lock in their perfect space. “Weddings are scheduled first come first serve. It’s never too early to make reservations,” Pfeifer said. ■

A Beautiful Ride

by Sara Hilton

A beautiful wedding deserves a beautiful ride, and a beautiful ride is exactly what Tecumseh Trolley has been providing wedding parties for the last 30 years. “We really have something for everyone,” said owner Steve Pixley. “The trolleys are a lot of fun and add a lot of character to a wedding,” he said. There are ten trolleys in the fleet, and guests are welcome to bring their own food and beverages on board. “The trolleys provide a party atmosphere,” he said. “There is room to move around or dance and just have fun.” However, Pixley also noted that his fleet of limos are the perfect fit for couples looking for a more traditional and elegant ride.

Pixley understands that all weddings are as unique as the couples themselves, so his services are never a one-size-fits-all package, rather, he works with each couple to provide a unique and memorable experience — providing everything from transporting wedding parties, to guest transports, to hotel shuttles, to even providing week-long services. “It’s your ride. It’s your day,” said Pixley. “You get to decide what makes it special.”

Pixley also emphasizes that safety is of utmost importance to him. His drivers and vehicles are fully licensed and insured and all are background checked so that guests can enjoy the day without worry.

“We’ve used Tecumseh Trolley for countless events over the past 15 years,” said Jani Hayden. “Not only is the quality of every single car and trolley the best I’ve ever experienced, there is a personal touch that can’t be beat. It’s almost like having a family member driving us. I wish more people knew about it.” ■
